Rebecca wowed her professors at St. Mary's College, where she created her own program in 3 disciplines, and went on to grad school at the University of Chicago. I am a proud mother! My husband worked at a non-profit law firm in Chicago for 18 years, and just retired from his Associate Dean position at Notre Dame Law School after 24 years. We walked the Camino pilgrimage in Spain in April 2026, and are enjoying knocking other bucket list items off our respective lists. In 2028 I will finally take a cruise to Antarctica! I am looking forward (most of all) to being a grandmother.

Tell us about your career path: (Limit to 100 words)

After graduating from Notre Dame I went to journalism graduate school at Marquette, then worked in editing at Harvard while my husband attended law school. Afterwards we lived in Oak Park for 18 years. During that time I worked for an online medical book review company, editing reviews, worked in admissions at Loyola's Law School, and on staff in nursing administration at Loyola's Medical Center. In South Bend, we purchased a home that needed renovations, and we painted in every room, and I found a new career and created my own painting business. Now I'm happily retired.

What is your proudest achievement:

My children, no question.

Have you retired? What are you doing now:

Yes, I'm retired and enjoying many travels.
